SENATE VOTES COMPROMISE DRAFT BILL

FOUR TO TEN BALLOTS SEEN NEEDED BY GOP

Convention Race Still Wide Open as Delegates Gather in Philadelphia.

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, June 19—A wide open Republican national convention with four to ten ballots necessary to nominate a presidential candidate was shaping up here today as the GOP clan gathered in a mood of exuberant confidence.

So far, this convention wears no man's collar. There isn't a boss in sight who can control it as of today. The battle of ballots will be a brawling affair with no holds or punches barred.

A stop-Dewey movement of some proportions was developing in a last whirl of maneuvering before the convention opens Monday.

Sen. Robert A. Taft's chance to win the presidential nomination bulged upward with these activities. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York is practically assured of top position on the first presidential ballot now scheduled for next Thursday. That situation is drawing some of the others toward informal alliance against him, although each will remain on his own. Reports of a possible Taft-Stassen deal persisted.

Gov. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania is emerging as a bulwark of the stop-Dewey movement. Gov. Duff is in bitter conflict for control of the fat 73-vote Pennsylvania delegation. He is estimated to have about 40 at his command.

Taft Gaining

The Pennsylvania party wing led by Joseph R. Grundy and national committeeman G. Mason Owlett is plugging for Gov. Dewey and apparently controls most of the other delegates. Pennsylvania had become a key state for both Taft and Dewey forces and the senator has been gaining strength there after a late start.

A Pennsylvania caucus Sunday night probably will not bring the dispute to a showdown. Not much more is expected from that meeting than agreement to cast the state's first ballot or so to a favorite son, Sen. Edward Martin.

The break will come if and when Sen. Martin steps aside and Pennsylvania delegates must decide where to go. Sen. Taft, Gov. Earl W. Warren of California or Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan might beat the shot-in-the-arm lift Gov. Duff and his faction are capable of delivering. Dewey managers were far from alarmed but would rest easier if they could budge Gov. Duff from his opposition. First blood in preconvention skirmishing was drawn by Gov. Dewey when the Republican national committee voted 48 to 44 to reject a 16-vote Georgia delegation favorable to Sen. Taft and to seat a delegation favorable to the New York governor. This decision will be appealed to the credentials committee and may be taken to the convention floor for a showdown vote.

All Expected Sunday

All candidates and dark horses are expected to be on the ground here tomorrow. Senators Taft, and Vandenberg and Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., arriving from Washington where congress is trying without much luck to clean up its business and adjourn tonight.

Gov. Warren is east bound on a special train bearing his delegation of 53 votes and scores of rooters and newsmen and women.

Gov. Dewey is coming in from Albany. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota got here Thursday and set the convention city on fire with a series of press conferences, speeches and appearances before sub-committees engaged in roughing out platform planks.

There is a power-house of Vandenberg sentiment already evident here although the senator cannot even have a shot at the target until Gov. Dewey and Sen. Taft have had their chance. But if the convention switches around for a compromise candidate Sen. Vandenberg could be the man.

None of the candidates has 548 first ballot votes or anything like that figure, which is the bare majority by which the Republicans could nominate their man next week. The balance of power lies in the big favorite son states such as Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Salvation Army Playground To Open

The above picture, taken late last summer, shows a portion of the playground and some of the recreational equipment of the playground at the Salvation Army headquarters at 141 North Prospect street, which will be opened for the new season Monday night. The public is invited to attend the program scheduled for 7:30 o'clock. Civic organizations and service clubs as well as officers of the local corps and representatives of the Salvation Army Advisory board will be present for the informal program.

RAIN AND HAIL BUFFET CITY

Parts of County Also Suffer Damage in Two Night Storms.

Thunder, rain and hail which last night swept through Marion county at almost gale force appeared today to have left little lasting damage. Rainfall measured 1.56 inches.

The first storm which struck at 12:35 a. m. cut a northwest to southeast path through the county, hitting north of Meeker, south and east through Marion and Claridon.

Upper Sandusky residents reported a heavy downpour of rain and much lightning and thunder.

Marion, Upper Sandusky, Claridon, and Morral all reported two storms of equal violence, the second striking at 4 a. m. Thunder claps and lightning flashes heralded the second storm were believed by many to be even louder and more brilliant than those of the earlier storm.

High winds through the treetops broke many branches. Marion's northwest and east districts were heavily buffeted with hail which was measured in open vessels at a depth of three inches as far southeast as the intersection of the Patton pike and route 98. Marion residents reported a like depth of hail, on South Greenwood street.

A bolt of lightning about two hours after midnight struck the

SOVIET MOVE BLOCKS TRAVEL INTO BERLIN

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, June 19 — Soviet troops blocked all Allied and German ground travel into Berlin today in a swift reaction to western-zone currency reform. Allied officials planned a meeting to decide what to do about it.

The Russians ordered the blockade last night a few hours after the United States, Britain and France had announced a new currency reform in western Germany beginning tomorrow.

Their reported purpose was to keep worthless allied marks out of the Russian zone. Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Soviet commander and military governor, issued a 2,000-word proclamation early today forbidding importation of western currency, new and old, into greater Berlin and the Russian zone.

Some circles, however, interpreted the Russian action as another attempt to drive the western powers from Berlin. Russian-controlled newspapers renewed demands that the allies quit the city.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander and military governor, said he would meet later today with British and French colleagues to decide what action should be taken against the Soviet moves.

Monday will mark a red letter day on the calendar of the Marion Corps of the Salvation Army and the launching of days of sunshine and healthful recreation for hundreds of boys and girls in Marion. It is the formal opening of the Salvation Army playground at the rear of the Army headquarters at 141 North Prospect street.

The public is invited to attend the program which is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Monday night. Talks will be given by L. Otis Porter, head of the Marion Community Foundation, Judge Edward J. Ruzzo of the probate and juvenile court, representatives of the Kiwanis club, Foreman's Club of the Universal Cooler and the Salvation Army advisory board. A play period for the children in the community is scheduled for 6:30 p. m., preceding the exercises.

Program Arranged

This year finds a full season of activity scheduled at the playgrounds, and thanks to interested organizations and individuals there are facilities for sports and games for children of all ages.

Launched last year by the Youth Committee of the Salvation Army Advisory board, due to difficulties in getting the blacktop in and the apparatus installed the playground was opened for only 26 days. This year an extensive program has been planned and in addition to opening early the activities will extend into the late fall. It is the feeling of the sponsors that the playground meets a definite community need by supplying recreation facilities for boys and girls who live in the downtown area and who otherwise would have no place for organized, safe recreation.

The entire area is blacktopped, fenced and laid out to supply one combination basketball court, volleyball, badminton, two shuffleboard courts, two hopskotch areas, one unigoal area and playground apparatus consisting of swings, teeter-boards and parallel bars.

New this year is the floodlight system installed through the generosity of the Foremen's club of the Universal Cooler. This, it is pointed out, will make possible a program extending from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. throughout the summer months. The Foreman's club also provided funds for the purchase of several basketball and volleyballs. The Kiwanis club has added to gifts of playground equipment made last year, a 12-foot slide and also is [illegible] two directors who will supervise the summer program. The directors are Miss Rumy Valley, a student at Asbury college at Wilmore, Ky., and Ralph Young of Marion.

In addition to the program of organized games there will be a handicraft program which will include work in leather, plastics, shell and rubber-plastic molding. There also will be periods for dramatics, story hours and motion pictures. Many field trips are being planned for Saturday afternoons.

The playground will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Mondays through Thursday each week, and from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Membership Cards

An innovation this year will be the issuance of membership cards to all boys and girls participating in the program. Before a membership card is issued the children will receive an application form to be taken home for the inspection and signature of the parents. There is no cost connected with the membership card nor use of the playground.

Last year, despite the difficulties encountered in installing the playground equipment, and the fact that the playground was open only for 26 days, 1,722 boys and girls were registered for the period.

TRUMAN NAMES MINE DISPUTE INQUIRY BOARD

Group To Report Findings Next Wednesday, on Lewis-Operators' Probe.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 19—President Truman took a first step today toward heading off a possible soft coal strike next month by naming a board of inquiry to look into the dispute between operators and John L. Lewis.

Mr. Truman acted under national emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Labor act.

The President said the wage-hour and pension dispute, involving 400,000 of Lewis' United Mine Workers and the coal industry, threatens a strike or lockout which would "imperil the national health and safety."

The board was directed in Mr. Truman's executive order to report its findings to the White House by next Wednesday. This report could form a basis for government legal action to obtain a court order forestalling any work stoppage for 80 days.

Named to Committee

David L. Cole of Paterson, N. J. a lawyer, and a veteran arbitrator in labor disputes, was designated chairman of the "national emergency" panel.

Other members of the three-man panel are: E. Wight Bakke, professor of economics at Yale university, and Waldo Emanuel Fisher, professor of industrial relations at University of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Truman acted as Federal Justice T. Alan Goldsborough began hearings on a petition by Ezra Van Horn, a coal operator, for a court order to prevent start of miners' pensions from a welfare fund collected during the last year. Goldsborough that operators producing 21,000,000 tons of coal annually are aiding with the miners in their pension fight.

Van Horn Objects to Plan

Lewis submitted an affidavit at the start of a hearing on a petition of Van Horn for a court order against Lewis.

Van Horn is seeking the order to halt pension and other welfare payments from the $40,000,000 fund collected in the last year from a 10-cent royalty. Van Horn, as the operators' trustee for the fund, objects to a money-spending plan, which has been approved by Lewis and Sen. Bridges (R-NY). Bridges is neutral trustee for the fund.

Lewis said several coal companies have notified Van Horn they "have disapproved, disavowed and disassociated themselves from this litigation. He said these companies include the West Virginia Coal and Coke company headed by Charles Dorrance. Lewis also argued that Van Horn was told by those coal companies he "does not represent them in his present attempt to prevent activation of the 1947 fund."

Lewis Asks Dismissal

Lewis asked the court to dismiss Van Horn's petition for an injunction.

Lewis told Goldsborough that Van Horn's move is an attempt to ham-string negotiation of a 1948 soft coal wage agreement.

Spray Trucks Due Monday In Japanese Beetle War

The Ohio department of agriculture will make war on Japanese beetles in Marion starting Monday.

Word received today by Arthur H. Smith, Marion county agricultural agent from the state department set the state's attack on the beetles for Monday morning with DDT mist blowers and metal traps as the chosen weapons.

Effective range of the DDT mist blower as estimated at 75 to 200 feet depending on wind direction. It is hoped that flies and mosquitoes here will also indulge liberally in the free DDT bath offered them. It's fatal to them.

The material used in the mist blowers is harmless to humans, plant life, and animals. Only certain insects and goldfish in outdoor pools face any danger from the solution. If any local resident should have goldfish in an outdoor pool Mr. Smith advises the pool should be kept covered while the sprayers are in the neighborhood.

Housewives doing the Monday wash are asked to delay hanging clothes out to dry until after the sprayers have passed, although the spray used is harmless to fabrics or the humans who will later wear them.

Spraying here will begin in areas surrounding the railroad yards, and in the districts closest to the right-of-ways of Marion's four railroads, Mr. Smith said. These areas along rail tracks are notorious breeding grounds for Japanese beetles.

No information has been received here as to what the hours of operation of the spray crews will be or the length of time they stay here. Residents may recognize the crews by the large tank trucks they will be operating, each with a power unit mounted near a big tank which contains the spray. From this tank large hose lines of considerable length will be attached so that areas of lawns, gardens and parks as well as rail right-of-ways may be reached without driving the tank truck off the streets.

Traps Give Clue

Before spraying any area a metal trap made of wire and grilling containing a colored metal plate which attracts the beetles is placed in the suspected area of infestation. The number of beetles trapped in the glass jar at the bottom of the trap indicates the density of population of the beetles in that area, and spraying is done according to the density shown by the traps. These traps have been in operation in Marion for the past several weeks, Mr. Smith said.

This year's spraying will mark the first use of liquid DDT here. Its use is preferred because of its greater effectiveness in preventing the hatching of beetle eggs and safety in use in built-up areas. Lead arsenate, used here in former years was primarily effective against the adult beetles Mr. Smith said.

MAY NOT END SESSION TODAY

Final Adjournment Impossible If Jam Isn't Broken, Martin Says.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 19 — House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) said today he believes it is "impossible" for congress to adjourn finally tonight.

Only a "break" in the legislation log jam, Martin said, would let the legislators get away.

"We've just got too much to do," he said.

Martin made the statement to reporters after a conference with Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Whether congress will return between the Republican and Democratic conventions, or after both of them, he said, has not been decided.

Three hours earlier, Taft, chairman of the senate GOP policy committee, had mentioned the possibility that congress might be forced to put off quitting "until maybe Monday."

Followed Draft Action

Martin spoke shortly after the senate had removed one of the big barriers to adjournment. It passed a compromise draft bill after an all-night filibuster by Senators Taylor (D-Idaho) and Langer (R-ND). The filibuster ended when Taylor was ruled off the floor by a technicality.

A conference committee wrangle over the amount of foreign aid funds was another delaying

CRESTLINE ANSWERS "WHISTLE STOP" JAB

Mayor Sonner Replies to Senator Taft.

Crestline has refused to let Senator Robert Taft's crack about "whistle stops" go unchallenged.

The Associated Press reported that Mayor A. P. Sonner wired this reply to the Democratic National committees request as to what Crestlinians and residents of some 34 other communities thought of the senator's remark:

"Forty-two passenger trains make regular scheduled stops here daily . . . . suggest that Senator Taft consult timetables."

He wire joined those from the mayors of Los Angeles and Gary, Ind., and from Chambers of Commerce in Pocatello, Ida., Laramie, Wyo., and virtually every other city where President Truman paused to speak during his tour, the Associated Press reported today from Washington.

And the Democratic national committee chuckled fiendishly, reported The Associated Press. Because it pulled the whistle poll after Taft said in a Philadelphia speech that President Truman shouldn't go around the country "blackguarding congress at every whistle-stop."

BALLOT TAKEN AS FILIBUSTER BREAKS DOWN

Measure Effective in 90 Days Rushed to House for Final Approval.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 19—The senate passed a compromise draft bill by voice vote today after breaking an all-night filibuster.

As it now stands—subject to house approval — the measure would start drafting men aged 19 through 25 for 21 months service, starting 90 days after final enactment.

Approval by voice vote came after the senate first broke the filibuster of Senators Glen H. Taylor (D-Idaho) and Langer (R-ND) and then got into a heated squabble over whether or not the bill actually had been passed.

Senator Ives (R-NY), presiding, first ruled that the draft compromise had passed. Then after a storm of protests he reversed this ruling and said it had not.

Taylor, who had been ruled out of order for breaking senate rules, managed to regain the floor during the uproar.

Weary senators thought he was beginning another stretch of filibustering.

But Taylor talked only a few minutes and then gave up.

Senators applauded and shouted approval of the compromise and rushed it over to the house.

Turbulent Scene

End of the filibuster and passage of the bill came after one of the stormiest scenes on the senate floor in many years.

At times several senators were shouting at once, with Ives banging his gavel vainly.

First there was argument about whether Ives had broken senate rules by declaring the bill passed while Senators Taylor and Pepper (D-Fla) were trying to speak.

Ives finally decided he was wrong about passage.

Then there was another caustic flurry about whether Taylor, barred for breaking senate rules, could begin talking again.

Ives ruled that Taylor had this right.

The roaring argument about whether the draft bill had passed or not came only a few minutes after Taylor was directed to take his seat and quit talking for violation of senate rules.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the senate armed services committee pulled a compromise draft bill from his pocket and asked senate approval.

He listed several of the senate-house conference decisions reached during the filibuster and suddenly asked for a vote.

Senator Ives called for a voice vote and there was a chorus of "ayes."

Talk Over 17 Hours

The Taylor-Langer filibuster began at 3:27 p. m. yesterday and ended at 9:09 a. m. today—a stretch of 17 hours and two minutes. A number of senators took catnaps on cots in the cloakrooms during the all-night vigil.

Taylor was tired and speaking very slowly when he lost the floor. His dark whiskers had cropped out and he scowled deeply and remained standing, leaning over his desk for several minutes.

The Idaho "singing cowboy" senator, who is Henry A. Wallace's new party candidate for president, had read about 23 telegrams before he came to one which Senator Brewster (R-Maine) objected to as casting an aspersion on senators.

Most of the telegrams were along the line of "keep up the good work," "We support your courageous fight," "We are with you in your filibuster," etc.

Brewster said that Taylor's remarks violated senate rules that forbid any member from making remarks ascribing improper conduct to another senator.

The telegram Taylor was reading stated that there was only one honest member of congress.

Senator Ives (R-NY), who was presiding, upheld Brewster and directed Taylor to take his seat.

Taylor protested and attempted to make a point of order to hold the floor.

But Ives was firm and ruled Taylor had lost the floor.

There was a short break in the Talmadian while Senator Knowland (R-Calif) took the floor to blast the two western Democrats.

"I hope that history will not record at some time in the future," he said angrily, "that this was a session for Democrats."

FAVOR GOP PLANK AGAINST HIGH COSTS

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 19 — Republican convention platform drafters leaned favorably today toward a farm group plan for taking a crack at the high cost of living—particularly of food and farm fiber products.

That plan would lower artificials across the government guarantees under farm prices after this year.

It put into effect would allow a lower level of food prices than the present farm program providing, of course, a new emergency shortage did not develop.

A republican sub-committee on agriculture put the plan into a suggested farm plank. It was set to be considered by the full committee today along with planks on other domestic and foreign issues drafted by eight other subcommittees after two days of public hearings.

Chairman Arthur Nelson of Minnesota said the farm group was deeply impressed by concern spokesmen for three major farm organizations expressed over the domestic price situation.

He said they were anxious to get the existing farm price support program modified before August 1st when it is scheduled to go into effect.

WARNS OF OIL SHORTAGE

By The United Press

CHICAGO — An oil shortage of unprecedented severity may confront the nation next winter, Dr. Robert E. Wilson, board chairman of Standard Oil Company of Indiana warns. Only by reducing new oil burner installations to the pre-war level and adopting strict conservation measures can a shortage be avoided, Wilson says. # REPORTS ON JOBS FOR HANDICAPPED

Third of Those Given Work Are Veterans, Scherff Says.

One-Third of the physically handicapped who found jobs through the local employment service since the first of the year were veterans, Fred B. Scherff, local OSES manager said today.

Mr. Scherff was commenting upon a report that Ohio led the nation in the number of jobs found for handicapped veterans during the month of March. Report was based on United States Employment Service figures and made by Frank J. Colopy, bureau of unemployment compensation administrator.

Thirty-eight handicapped persons have been placed through the local office since Jan. 1 and of this number 13 were veterans, Mr. Scherff said. Ten of the 13 placed found jobs within the last three months, indicating an increase in selective placement of handicapped veterans, he added.

According to the BUC administrator's report, the OSES, a BUC division, found more than 781 jobs for handicapped veterans during March through its selective placement operations. Texas was second in the nation with 773 placements and New York was third with 718. The national placement total for handicapped veterans during March was 10,235.

In Ohio, selective placement of handicapped veterans has continued to show an increase. In April, the employment service made 813 such placements and in May the figure rose to 924. Ohio's total since the beginning of the year is 3,744.

Marion Veteran Relates Story of Officer's Death

A lapse of four and one half years after the death of an American Army officer in the battle of France—and the present chaotic condition of the world today—have not prevented a high ranking Army general from conveying a compliment to the dead officer's parents from a Marion man who was near the scene when the officer was killed.

Harold Saunders of 191 Fies avenue this month received a letter from Major General I. T. Wyche, inspector general of the Army, stating that he had forwarded Saunder's letter to the parents of First Lt. John S. Hooven of Lockhaven, Pa., who was killed by an exploding mine near the village of Marigny, France in 1944. Although he greatly admired Lt. Hooven as a soldier and man, Mr. Saunders was hesitant about relaying the details of his death to the officer's parents. He did, however, write to General Wyche, paying tribute to Lt. Hooven and explaining the details of his death.

General Wyche, himself, took the time from his day's work to write to the parents, enclosing the tribute from the Marion soldier.

Crowds Patrol Car, Driver Lands in Jail

Clarence Conner, 19, of Columbus came well within reach of the "long arm of the law" about midnight last night when he crowded a highway patrol cruiser off the highway while driving a car he had stolen 10 minutes previously.

Patrolmen arrested Conner shortly after being crowded off the road into a filling station driveway on highway No. 42 near Mt. Gilead. He had filched the car—a 1935 Plymouth coupe owned by a resident of Mt. Gilead—from in front of the North Electric Co. On checking through the records, patrolmen found that Conner had been arrested Feb. 21 of this year on a similar charge. He was arrested on that occasion by the Columbus highway patrol and placed on probation. He was lodged in the Morrow county jail last night. A preliminary hearing was set for today in mayor's court in Mt. Gilead. A charge of auto larceny was filed against Conner last night.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I WATCHED my father anxiously as, at the end of his promised ten minute romp with Faith, he put his small granddaughter down on the floor, kissed her warmly, and rose from his chair, still holding her hand tightly in his. Their play had been so strenuous—strictly his own fault, for Faith always follows his tempo—that I was relieved at the end of their playtime.

To my delightful relief, however, he appeared to be as fit as he had been when their romp began.

"We must do this again, very soon," he said. "Good-bye now, my darling."

"When we get—" Faith began, but her question was smothered in his kiss, and as soon as he had released her he turned to Dicky. That was my chance, and I shook my head at her, and put my finger to my lips. I knew that her completed question would have been: "When we get to the farm?" and I did not wish my father to know until it was necessary, how much we had been obliged to tell her of our plans.

I drew a long breath of relief as I realized that he either had not heard her unfinished question, or had attached no importance to it. But there was interest and urgency in his voice when he spoke to Dicky.

"I will attend to that matter for 'K.' as soon as I get back to the hideaway," he said. "I should know the answer by noon today at the latest. Where can I get you by telephone at that time?"

"In my studio, here," Dicky told him, "but, if you do not wish to talk over the telephone, I can come to you at any place you wish."

My father shot a quick, intent glance at him.

"You have something there, he said. "Will it be convenient for you to come to the hideaway a few minutes before noon?"

"Perfectly convenient." Dicky said with a grin, "and if it weren't I'd come anyway."

"I know that, Son," my father said, giving him a smile which mirrored the very real affection he has for his son-in-law. "Then I can brief you on what I want you to tell 'K.' You'll talk to him in code, of course."

"Oh, definitely," Dicky said, and there was borne in upon me a distinct impression that the "lines" had been rehearsed. This thing of which they were talking had no connection with Mr. "K," my father's F.B.I. aide, I was sure, but I also was sure that it was a matter about which they wished to keep me in ignorance.

I knew, however, that it was sheer waste of time to indulge in any speculation. Neither my father nor my husband would lay aside the camouflage underneath which they were hiding their plan until they deemed that the time was ripe for them to do so. But despite what my common sense advised, my imagination was whipped to fever heat by my secret guess as to what my father and my husband were planning, and it was not until my father said insistently: "Margaret, dear, I am going now!" that I realized he must have spoken to me before, and received no answer.

Votes in The Bag

THE Dunn survey, which has hammered for years on the theme that federal employes in key states can control the outcome of national elections, is still hammering.

Rogers C. Dunn, who prepares the survey, believes each federal employe accounts for an average of four votes. On this basis, he contends that President Truman, if nominated, could carry New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Missouri and California with a regular Democratic vote of as little as 39 per cent in California, ranging upward to 47 per cent in Indiana. The balance of the votes needed would represent the federal payroll in these states. On a national average, he says, the payroll vote of 2,000,000 federal employes would give the Democratic candidate 52 per cent of the popular vote, though the regular Democratic vote amounted to as little as 44 per cent.

The underlying reason for the federal bureaucracy's growth, Mr. Dunn believes, is the practice of paying bureau chiefs in proportion to the number of employes under their supervision. This blocks congressional efforts to pare the payroll, as attested by the fact the federal employment total has edged up past the 2,000,000 mark despite the intention of congress to make wholesale reductions in the bureaucracy this year.

Synthetic Foods

WOOD is becoming one of the great raw materials. It provides food, clothing and shelter as well as newsprint, alcohol, plastics, fertilizer and other items. In future years wood's role as a food particularly for livestock, is likely to increase, reports Industrial & Engineering Chemistry.

Despite World War II, the world population is 200,000,000 more than in 1940, yet today's food supply is only 93 per cent of 1940's. The publication notes that "largely because of the grains demand, the U. S. cattle population fell 3,000,000 last year to . . . 67,000,000." It believes the decline can be halted by wider use of sawdust preparation as a grain substitute.

As the population grows, the world will rely more and more on the chemist's retort. The versatile soybean has come into its own as organic chemists have found many uses for it in food and manufacturing. In South Africa, Britain is developing vast peanut plantations to utilize the methods Carver and others perfected in processing the nut for oil and a score of other uses. Even today's nickel candy bar wrapper lists ingredients the candy maker never heard of two decades ago.

Serpent Most Likely To Succeed

FROM the interior of Brazil comes word that a serpent of staggering dimensions crawled out of the river and scared the daylights out of some frontiersmen down there. Here, by all odds, is the serpent most likely to succeed.

Newspapers have been printing stories about serpents for many years. At one time the stories were standard hot-weather reading for a bored populace that wished something exciting would happen even today, when everything is happening, a serpent is welcome, if only for comic relief.

But the serpents have had a notorious weakness. They always popped up in accessible places. The curious flocked to the place to see for themselves—and whoosh! The story folded up. The serpent was proved to be a hoax.

The interior of Brazil is inaccessible. The serpent that has popped down there can cavort and wriggle for decades, intriguing millions by remote control. Familiarity will not breed contempt. Congratulations to an enterprising journalist who dug up a serpent story that can't be exploded.

Meat Malpractice

MEAT eaters down in Houston are up in arms. The grand jury has been called to hear witnesses charge that horse meat disguised as beef is being sold in Texas' largest city.

It is a situation that should be cleaned up without delay. Houston's butchers have too much—if you'll pardon the expression—at stake.

Texas has no law against selling horse meat when it is offered as such. In France and many other lands horse meat is an entirely acceptable item. But Texas, being in the center of one of the great cattle-raising areas, have every right to say neigh—beg pardon, nay.

Texas meat retailers would do well to steer—follow, that is—honest business practice in presenting their merchandise. Coming upon a horseshoe in the beef stew would be enough to alienate a customer for life.

Did You Know

A review of the world's motor laws indicates that 101 nations require driving on the right hand side of the street while 35 enforce a left hand rule.

Before World War II the Far East exported a net of four and one-quarter million tons of foodstuffs, but in 1947 it was a net importer of six and one-half million tons.

Majors and Minors in Everyday Life.

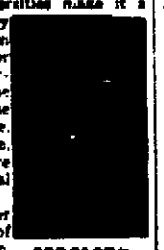
IT is possible for a man or a woman in the United States to be graduated with the highest honors from the very best universities and be an appalling ignoramus except in such subjects as the student selects as a "major." The so-called "major" may be in so limited a field of human culture as to provide no breadth of view, no basis for forming judgments, no competence for public leadership. Yet many colleges and universities make it a point that they are training men and women for public leadership and refuse to admit those who do not give, at an early age, the appearance of such potential leadership.



SOKOLSKY

Small wonder that so many of our statesmen, graduates of American universities, some not only with one but with two degrees, become putty in the hands of Europeans, even of the representatives of smaller countries. A man unfamiliar with history, whose language is the unlettered talk of the sidewalk, who stands in awe before any one familiar with his own tongue, to say nothing of two or three others, is not to be trusted in dealings with those whose cultural training is universal. He becomes a weak baby in their hands because he literally is uneducated even though he may wear a Phi Betta Kappa key, the product of perhaps 14 A's in a narrow field. A master's degree in landscape gardening is representative of nothing except landscape gardening and even a magna cum laude in such a field is no indication of an ability to understand the struggle within UN for power.

Within Narrow Limits

Many American universities require one year of English and evidence of having passed a high school course in a foreign language. How can a man be expected to know his country, its people, its philosophy of life whose knowledge of its literature is limited to what a young men can do in one school year? The theory, of course, is that having tasted wisdom, he will pursue it. The fact is that for 10 years after graduation he is harried by the need for a livelihood. Have you ever discussed a broad public question with students of engineering or medicine as even some who have suffered for four years in the major called "government"?

The first question that one asks himself after such an experience is, what are the thought processes of these young people? Why do they generalize from the particular? How do they move from point A to B to C? What is the use of their education, if their minds have not been trained to screen the obviously false? How is it possible for them to accept as facts data which can be disproved by any year book, encyclopedia or dictionary? Why do they speak of bills of congress with only a headline familiarity with the text, for which one does not require four years of college education?

The Schooled and Unschooled

Then one discovers that what makes an educated man different from and more competent mentally than an uneducated man, namely, a broad, humanistic knowledge, reaching back into the total cultural experience of mankind, is lacking in their experience because their "majors" take so much of their time that human knowledge has become a minor. No man can, for example, truly understand why Henry Wallace acts as he does without a good knowledge of the constant struggle in human history between freedom and slavery, between government by consent of the governed and government by self-proclaimed and self-anointed experts. Nor can a man understand the full force of the American resistance to government by experts (maybe called dictators or despots or duces or fuehrers or even commissars) without a competent grasp of English and American history and the philosophies of life that have supported these peoples.

It is more important for an American student therefore to read John Locke, the grandfather of the American Constitution, than it is for him to repeat the latest palaver of the "New Republic" or "The Nation." It is infinitely more important to read the Bible than to read Karl Marx and the flutterings of the atomic scientists. It is essential that he familiarize himself with the Constitution and the American philosophy that springs from it.

Just Where Is God?

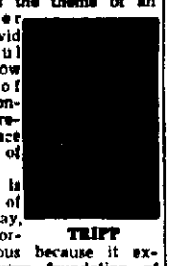
By Frank Tripp

A LADY writes me, "How dare you blaspheme God by associating Him with a common circus, have you no respect for Christian people?"

The charge is as benighted as it is unfair, as bigoted as it is untrue. It is the theme of an earnest letter from a fervid sectarian soul whose narrow conception of God would confine His presence and grace to temples of worship.



TRIPP

The thought is a product of shall we say, precious ignorance. Precious because it expresses the very foundation of faith—if not charity. Faith in the unfathomable which has kept civilization together, and is so much needed now. Blind faith, which may be the only true faith after all. I do not condemn such faith.

Still I cannot stand charged by even one person with blasphemy which in her eyes approaches treason to God. For her God is my God—and we must understand each other.

The letter referred to a story which I wrote about an old showman who became a preacher. I captioned the article, "God Goes to a Circus." I can fairly hear the good lady gasp as her eyes met those words, for I was brought up by a woman who once would have reacted the same.

I thought they were all gone. Because my wonderful Methodist mother, long before she died, came to see God at the circus, in the theater, at a card party and at a dance.

Yet all of these things, save the circus, were denied me as a boy. My church forbade them then. I'm sure that's why I played penny ante back of the barn; why I sneaked to every show that came to town; why, when supposed to be at the YMCA, I was assistant property boy in a burlesque theater. Then grew to be a minstrel, theatrical press agent and, worst of all, a newspaperman.

By this route, I came to know a showman who took God under the big top. Strangely enough that man is a Methodist minister now and a chaplain with a little circus. It was devout Christians like my mother who discovered God could be outside the church.

God can be anywhere the devil is. I know because I've found Him there. Hypocrites should take heed of this. He's everywhere they go.

I've seen God in the lives of desperate men, of thieves, drunkards and prostitutes. The world rarely looks upon the tender, lovely things that such as these quite often do. They must be God-inspired.

I've seen God in places I dislike to say I've been—and I've seen Him in action there; not once, but many times. I've heard Him praised by lips that kept dark secrets society would love to know. There's something of God in every heart.

God, at a circus, could easily be among those who revere Him most and bear watching least. He's far more needed where deceit and greed prevail; where those who chart their course alone scoff His laws as obsolete, not meant for now; where science tries to flaunt His word.

Then, dear lady, just another thought. The living God is not alone the Christian's God. If justly charged that I blaspheme God by casting Him among His own creatures, wherever met, then truly I offended, not only Christians, but all men—which I deny.

My God, if not yours, is the God of all mankind. He's not just God of followers of Christ, Who called Him Father. He's God of Jews, Confucians, Mohammedans, Buddhists. He's God even of infidels, of beasts and birds and everything that lives. Does He not note a sparrow's fall?

Whether or not men bow to Him, He is God of all—and He is everywhere that life exists.

If not, the earth will perish. If not, there is no God.

"Every Dog . . ." And Father, Too

Tomorrow is Father's Day.

Father? You know the head of the house? Well, Father is the one who married her.

Every year we set aside the third Sunday in June to shower him with affection and four-in-hands. The date is carefully chosen so that it will be at least 10 days before he gets the bills for his presents.

It was Father that Roosevelt had in mind when he spoke of The Forgotten Man. Mother has been eulogized in song, oils and iambic pentameter. But Al Jolson never sang of "Papa Machree!"

Only once, so far as I can determine, has the paternal parent been immortalized in our language and literature . . . And what kind of recognition is "So's Your Old Man!"?

Give him his due tomorrow, remembering that Father, after all, is just a little boy grown domestic. Most of the time he was quite a guy in the days before he was spouse-broken.

Europe's Health

General health conditions in most of western Europe, as reflected in current death rates, have shown a remarkable recovery since the end of the war, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. report.

With the exception of Germany, the report said, conditions are as good or better than in prewar years. Improved health of western Europe was attributed to relief programs financed by the United States government and private agencies, application of new medical discoveries; the absence of respiratory disease epidemics, and careful distribution of available food.

Death rates in the British Isles, France, the Low Countries, Switzerland and Scandinavia are the lowest in history, the report said, Austria, Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria at or below prewar levels.

It was Sunday, June 19, 1938.

Marion was chosen as the 1939 convention city by the Navy Clubs of the U. S. A. at the final session of the first annual convention held at Quincy, Ill. Three Marion men, Paul Reynolds, Norval V. Foreman and H. D. Pickett, local Navy recruiting officer, were in attendance.

Miss LaVonne Bell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry L. Bell and Harry Weaver Smith of Harlan, Ky. were married by the bride's father in Central Christian church.

Mrs. Mildred Buente, guardian, Wilma Ehrich, queen, Edna Bargar, Marian Davis, Jeanne Darnell, Elsie and Peggy Knapp, Eleanor Abelson, Marjorie Bindley, Marjorie Moore and Marian Todd returned from Cincinnati where they attended a convention of Job's Daughters. The local Bethel was awarded a banner for having enrolled the largest number of members during the year.

The resignation of Rev. H. M. Palmer as pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist church was announced during the morning service. He was to accept the pastorage of the First Roseland Baptist church in Chicago.

Fathers were given recognition as Father's day was observed at Calvary Evangelical, Emmanuel Baptist, First United Brethren, Greenwood Evangelical and Mt. Zion Baptist churches. I. O. Barnhart, 85, was the oldest father present at the U. B. service.

Parity for Labor

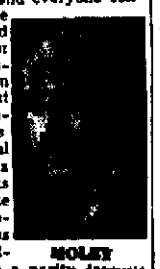
By Raymond Moley

ONE of the most durable measures of farm prosperity is the parity formula. Briefly stated, it is a statistical ratio between what the farmer pays for the things he buys and what he gets for the things he raises. Parity, or 100 per cent, is reached when relative prices are equal to the average of the five years before the first World war. It is assumed that those years were good ones for the farmer and everyone concerned. Despite some defects and the need for periodical revision, it has been one of the most successful of statistical formulas.



MOLEY

The General Motors formula for settling its latest dispute with the automobile union is clearly an attempt to create a parity formula for labor. The question will be whether the two statistical situations are really comparable.

The General Motors employes get a sort of guarantee that their standard of living will be kept at the 1940 level. If the cost of living goes up, wages will increase by a corresponding percentage. Should it go down, wages will be reduced, but not below a level of $1.56 during the next two years.

Provision is made for increasing efficiency in the industry. It is assumed that efficiency in national production will go up 2 per cent a year and that a corresponding wage increase of 3 cents an hour will be added this year and next.

Many observers have greeted the whole scheme with raised eyebrows. They say that the plan offers a guarantee that since wages are the most important element in determining prices, the whole system, if applied generally, would only provide for indefinite inflation. That, however, remains to be seen.

The idea is not new. Sliding-scale wages were tried almost a century ago in England. At that time, the prices of foodstuffs, principally grain, were used to determine increases in wages. In fact, over the years the cost of living has always been a factor in labor disputes.

It is true that the General Motors formula makes it exceedingly improbable that wages will go down during the period of the contract. It is always difficult to get the rate of wages down in unionized business lines. When the business cycle turns down, wages in non-unionized lines decline, but in unionized lines unemployment goes up. In many foreign countries the answer to the rigidity of nominal wages is a reduction in money values. This brings about higher prices without raising nominal wages.

The General Motors agreement points to a crying need in the department of labor. The bureau of labor statistics has a passable but far from perfect measurement of the cost of living. But it has no general measurement of national labor productivity. There have been numerous meetings of statisticians to devise such a measure, but not much has been accomplished.

Now, since the GM plan gives more pay for increased productive efficiency, there is need for a measure of that factor. The figures of 2 per cent and 3 cents an hour are a very general and tentative yardstick. In some lines efficiency has increased 2 per cent or more. In a few others, it has declined. It is very difficult to tell to what extent, if any at all, it has increased since 1941 in the auto industry.

A good deal of figuring needs to be done before labor parity can be favorably compared with farm parity.

Non-Fix Tickets

NON-FIX traffic tickets are being put in use by an increasing number of cities, the American Public Works Association reports.

The tickets are designed to save time and paper work in traffic violation cases as well as to foil offenders who try to get tickets "fixed" through "a friend on the force" or someone down at city hall.

The new Chicago ticket is called "most modern ever designed for a municipal police department" by the Northwestern University traffic institute and combines non-fix features used in several localities.

Every ticket is numbered and made out in quadruplicate. The first copy goes automatically to the court, serving also as a complaint. This puts the case in the hands of the court right at the start and also saves considerable paper work. Disposition of the case is recorded on this copy, saving more paper work.

Daily Bible Thought

Christianity is not so much a philosophy as it is a way of life. The way to find out whether it is a good or a bad way is to try it, all out. "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God or whether I speak of myself."—John 7:17.

A College Education by Radio

The National Broadcasting Company has announced the opening of a radio college. The University of Louisville this summer will conduct courses by airwave. Listeners may register, listen to the courses, and take exams. It now becomes possible to get a sheepskin out of a mail chute and become a college man by loud speaker. The degree A. D. D. (All Done by Dials) is in the offing.

But there is no way to make the football squad unless you can carry the ball 10 yards through the ether.

We expect the radio university to have terrific appeal. At what other college can you get an education with a possibility of frequent ball scores and $1,000 slogan prizes? It is even possible that you can become a man of education by studying at home.

Program and Curriculum

8:30—Welcoming exercises, with the correct time and weather forecast.

9—Formal dedication of the radio college over a national hookup and introduction of a college jingle and theme song.

9:30—Address by the dean, with recipes and Ma Perkins.

10—Formal opening of classes after a screening by Talent Scouts.

Classes

1—English literature with organ accompaniment and 10 minutes for Stop the Music.

2—American history with late ball scores and A Date With Judy.

3—Mathematics at Sardi's. Prof. Slater: Geometry with Terry & The Pirates.

4—Philosophy under sponsorship of the Sunkissed Almond Bar Corporation. (What a philosophy course for a candy bar! What a candy bar for a philosophy course!)

5—French with Double or Nothing and Queen For a Day.

6—English with news roundup, farm reports, Tommy Dorsey and Maggi McNellis.

7—Latin. Life Can Be Beautiful, Stella Dallas, and It Pays To Be Ignorant.

8—Choice of Greek, Corliss Archer or Art Linkletter.

9—Science. Heart's Desire, The Answer Man and Kate Smith.

10—Political Economy. Duke Ellington and a pause for station identification.

11—Physiology. (Or would you rather have Allen's Alley and Duffy's Tavern?)

12—Ancient History for students who have had one year of Advanced Jolson or two years of Elementary Durante.

13—Latin. Open only to students with certificates from Bing Crosby, Doctor I. Q. or the Quiz Kids.

14.—Biology by arrangement with the Great Eastern Hair Tonic Corporation.

15—Modern Drama (The Tom Mix Foundation.)

Enroll now. And remember, in a radio college you may miss your diploma and still get a jackpot.

ZEKE CLAY SAYS:

Gig Puddicombe, who set fire to the orphan asylum, shot up the town hall and robbed three banks, has attributed it all to lack of vitamins in his babyhood. He's been put on probation with permission to report by telephone during the hot months.

RUSSIA, it is reported, also has developed a plane that flies faster than sound. Can it be possible that the next war will be over for the civilized world before it hears it?

Charles ("Lucky") Luciano, Gangster sent to prison for 30 years with Tom Dewey doing the D. A. work and pardoned by the same Thomas after serving less than a third of that time, has held a press conference in Rome. He denies he has 90 million dollars, that he gets a princely rakeoff from rackets in the U. S. A., or that he is the night club king of Italy. He seems to make two points clear: (1) That he is doing much better than millions of people who never violated the laws; (2) that the American system of punishing its criminals is most satisfactory and has his high approval.

We also think Mr. Baruch sent a messenger outside to get a bet down on Two G's at Delaware and Noble Impulse at Garden State.

A Better Ash-Tray

By TRUMAN TWILL

Treatment will be given today to the problem of ash-trays, a vital necessity in a country whose denizens smoke like furnaces and are supposed to be reasonably tidy about it.

It's common knowledge that all ash-trays now in use were designed by non-smokers, interior decorators and mechanical screwballs who let themselves be carried away by enthusiasm.

There are seven things fundamentally wrong with them, to wit:

1. They are too small.
2. They are never where they should be.
3. They tip over or get brushed off on the floor.
4. They are either too ornamental to be useful or too ugly to be tolerable.
5. They do not extinguish the cigaret.
6. There aren't enough of them.
7. They aren't any good.

An ideal ash-tray would have unlimited capacity. It would not require emptying every whip-stitch. It couldn't be knocked over. It would put out the cigaret, the cigar, or the smoldering contents of a pipe—no afterglow.

It would eliminate all fuss and untidiness. It would be in the right place. It would be functional—no gingerbread. It would be unbreakable. It would be retractable. This is the key to the Twill ash-tray—this retractable feature.

The Twill, functional, unbreakable, retractable, fool-proof ash-trays would be built into the floor. They would consist of iron pipes eight inches in diameter installed in the floor on the principle of a jack-in-the box. The pipes would be enclosed by metal gratings. When in use, these gratings would be at chair-arm height. When not in use, they would cover the holes in the floor into which the ash-trays receded, to get them out of the way. The gratings would permit ashes to fall through them, also cigaret and cigar butts.

At the other end, which would be in the basement of the house (the idea's no good for second floors) would be a trap door sealed tight with a rubber gasket. The gasket would make the lower end water-tight so the pipe could hold an inch of water, to extinguish whatever embers were dropped into it.

The pipes could be emptied periodically from the basement. Some will say this is too complicated. But what could be more complicated than a living room full of ash-trays of all dimensions and degrees of usefulness being knocked off on the floor, tipped over and getting full of unsightly debris?

What could be more complicated than this makeshift method of dealing with the almost universal habit of smoking in the United States.

The idea is offered free to anyone deserving to bestow it on a society that has been using tobacco for hundreds of years and still hasn't found a satisfactory way to dispose of the litter. No royalties are expected—just a complimentary set of ash-trays.

New Ideas Included in Plan for Small House Available at Minimum Cost

HOME TODAY TOMORROW

by Al Wadsworth Wood

Plan for Small Minimum Cost House

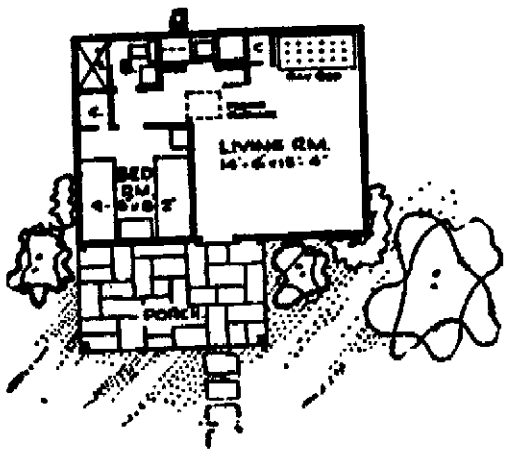
Practically 300 square feet of living room, one bedroom, a kitchen and a bathroom, make up the interior of this small 25 by 16-foot house.



There are several unique ideas brought out in the plan. One is the use of sliding windows in the corner of the living room. Plain sash are set in runners so that they slide back and forth, thus eliminating the more expensive double-hung sash. Ceiling windows, composed of hinged plain basement sash are used in the side wall of the bedroom and in the kitchen and bathroom. A floor-furnace is used to provide heat, and as it is set between the floor beams beneath the house, no space is occupied above floor level. The small chimney at the rear of the house, which carried off the furnace and range flues, is built of concrete-block units with terra-cotta flue-lining cast in each unit.

The house is planned to be rectangular in the initial stages of building, but a wide porch covering as shown may be added at any time without interfering with the base plan. Houses of the same type have been built with a terrace across the front, and with long French-windows in the living room.

The entire plan offered here is subject to a number of simple alterations which may make it more desirable to individual tastes.

The exterior of the house may be of clapboard, shingle, brick or stone, depending upon the availability of local materials and the owner's desires in exterior finish.

The interior walls may be finished off in plywood, plaster, composition board or in board-and-batten style.

If the house is to be used for summer occupancy only, shutters may be used in place of interior doors to very excellent effect.

THE GARDEN CLINIC

Q. I would appreciate having some information on window boxes.

A. I am sorry but we do not have any bulletins or mimeographed material on window boxes.

For shaded window boxes I would use Boston fern, begonias, tuberous rooted begonias, fancy leaved, caladium and achimenes. This latter is a summer flowering bulb. For sunny window boxes you could use geraniums or annual flowers such as sweet alyssum, petunias, dwarf French marigolds, nierembergia and verbenas.

It is very important that window boxes have holes in their bottoms to let out the excess water. It is well to put some broken stone or rocks in the bottom of the box so the excess moisture can get to these holes. It also is important that you have a good soil mixture. It would mix about two parts garden soil, one part peat moss, rotted leaves or rotted manure. It is important that plants in the boxes be watered regularly and adequately. I would add a cupful of a complete commercial fertilizer to each bushel of soil.

Q. I have set out some Lombardy poplars for a wind break for our house. I was told they have a root system that will spread a great distance and find their way into sewers. The trees are 60 feet from the septic tank and drain. Will I have trouble with this?

A. I do not think you need worry about your Lombardy poplars since they are relatively short lived. Between oyster shell scale, borers, and disease, Lombardy poplars are usually pretty well done by the time they are 15 years old. Even if they did live on to reach a height of 40 or 50 feet, I doubt very much if the roots would reach 60 feet from the trunk.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Efficient planning of all rooms around a small center hall affords access to any room in this house without passage through another room. A covered front stoop protects the entrance to the house as well as to the garage. Designed by the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn., as Plan B-56, this house gains a wide appearance from its attached garage, but the main body of the house covers only 908 square feet. Including a full sized basement there is a volume of 17,252 cubic feet. Plumbing costs are reduced by juxtaposition of kitchen and bath. There is dining space in the kitchen or end of living room where large windows face the garden. A fireplace could be added in the living room-garage wall. The architects suggest frame siding and asphalt shingle roof.

COURT CITES BOY'S PARENTS

Father and Mother of Delinquent Given Suspended Sentences.

A Marion father and mother drew 30-day suspended sentences in county jail after being found guilty of contributing to the neglect of their 11-year-old boy when they appeared before Judge Edward J Ruzzo in juvenile court Friday afternoon.

They had been cited after their 11-year-old son had admitted entering the Mar-O-Del Golf club office about 9:30 p m June 15 in company with another lad not yet in his teens. The youths took $27 from the establishment after breaking in through a window officials said. Both youths admitted the theft.

The court found that the parents of the 11-year-old boy had made no active effort to locate their child despite the fact that he had not been home since early afternoon. The mother's sentence was suspended on condition that the boy never appear again as a delinquent under similar circumstances. Otherwise the sentence will be executed.

Must Restore Money

The father was given the same warning with the additional court order to make restitution of $13.50 to the golf club, his son's share of the money taken.

The boy who had a previous court record of truancy and stealing and had been under observation at the bureau of juvenile research, was given a year's probation and ordered not to leave his home neighborhood unaccompanied by his parents, except to school.

The bureau had found, Judge Ruzzo said, that there was a lack of stability in the lad's home environment. His mother works and father spends several nights a week in community activities, factors tending to be detrimental to a closely knit family life. There are three other children in the family.

Judge's Suggestion

Judge Ruzzo suggested the mother give up her job and devote her time to care of her children inasmuch as he found it not absolutely necessary that she contribute to the adequate support of the family.

The second youth upon admitting complicity in the theft, was placed on probation for the balance of the summer and confined to his home neighborhood unless accompanied by his parents. He was ordered to pay $13.50 as his share of the money taken in the theft.

His parents were not cited when it was found that they had been making a serious effort to locate the boy after he had failed to put in an appearance at home. The boy had no previous court record.

The incident occurred at a time when the mayor, the juvenile court and police are studying possibilities of a more rigid enforcement of the city curfew ordinance calling for children under 16 to be off the streets by 10 p m unless accompanied by grown-ups.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Tracing a Food Allergy

For many years doctors and laymen alike have known that in certain individuals some otherwise wholesome foods will produce hives and other discomforts. But it is only in recent years that medical science has realized the broad role such allergies play in producing disease of every kind.

Even yet the facts are not all in nor the story—one of the most complex in the whole realm of medicine—complete, but today we do know that sensitivity to foods of various kinds is at the root of many more disorders than hives.

It is for instance the most common cause of the year-round nasal discomfort known as perennial hayfever and of bronchial asthma. It is also the cause of certain types of headache and of a puzzling state of constant fatigue which is accompanied by aching muscles, nervous irritability, and mental depression.

No matter in what form an allergy makes itself felt, the treatment is the same—elimination of all contact with the foods to which the patient is sensitive. The difficulty lies in discovering just what foods give trouble by showing the relation between them and the symptoms which are bothering the patient.

A guide to this has recently been worked out. It has been found that if a person eats a food to which he is sensitive several times a day, an irregular reaction will develop. The symptoms will, of course depend upon the type of disorder present that is, whether it is asthma, hayfever or skin rash. The symptoms may not be increased immediately after the food is eaten but will occur after a delay of several hours. In fact some patients often feel better immediately after eating the food to which they are sensitive than they did before. Thus, patients may fail to suspect such foods as wholegrain products, meat, milk, or eggs as the cause of their symptoms even though they are highly sensitive to them.

If the food to which the patient is highly sensitive is eaten only occasionally, that is once every four or five days, the symptoms are likely to occur in a period of about two hours after the food is eaten. In such cases the diagnosis is more easily made since the patient will usually suspect foods which he does not eat very often.

Of course, the degree of sensitivity varies. If the patient is only slightly sensitive symptoms may not develop after eating the foods responsible for the difficulty. However, the symptoms are more apt to occur if the food is eaten at several successive meals, if large amounts of it are eaten, or if some infection is present. Irregular reactions to foods may also occur more often during the regular monthly periods in women.

Questions and Answers

H. D.: What would cause the tongue to be coated all the time?

Answer: A coated tongue sometimes is caused by constipation, while in many cases no reason for it can be discovered.

If one is in good physical condition and feels perfectly well, no attention should be paid to the fact that the tongue is coated.

WHITE SHRINE MEETS

A large class of candidates was initiated when Marion Shrine No. 15, White Shrine of Jerusalem, met Monday night in the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Fern Weirman of Mansfield, district deputy, was present and commended the officers of the Marion Shrine for the work which they did in the initiatory ceremonial. A number of guests were present from Mansfield. At the next meeting, the 31st anniversary of the Marion Shrine will be observed and charter members and past officers will be honored. Amended and revised by-laws will be balloted on.

SESSION

factor in the adjournment rush.

The conference committee trying to match up a new senate long-term farm bill with a house-passed 18-month extension of the present price support program also ran into trouble. Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) said after a late night session that there can be no compromise—either the senators or the representatives must give in completely. They, too, were scheduled to try again today to work out the differences.

Bills in Conference

Also before a senate-house committee were differing bills providing money for the atomic energy commission, the veterans administration and other government corporations. The senate had approved a $5,855,308,581 appropriations — $60,259,920 more than the house.

Senate consideration of these house-passed bills was blocked as well.

▶A housing measure with the controversial public housing and slum clearance provisions of the senate bill knocked out. There were signs that the senate might accept the house bill—approved yesterday 318 to 86—rather than risk further delay in a conference committee.

▶A compromise bill calling for the immigration of 205,000 European refugees in the next two years. The house passed it yesterday by a voice vote and senate approval was expected—if the bill could get to the floor.

▶A 450-a-year pay increase for postal workers.

in the road. The Democrats waged 35 places across the country where Mr. Truman had spoken on his "non-political" rail tour. The question: Was it nice of the senator to call you a whistle-stop? (Taft didn't mention any particular communities).

"Characteristically, Senator Taft is confused," replied Laramie. "Very poor taste," said Gary. "Our whistles never stop blowing," said Mayor Earl L. McNutt of Eugene, Ore.

The Democrats summed it up: 73 per cent of those replying disapproved of Taft's remark, of which 7 per cent said he couldn't city. And 27 per cent simply asked have been referring to their fair for more details. As for Mayor Fletcher Brown of Los Angeles: "The term hardly applies," he said, but: "Anyone who could have been in Los Angeles last Monday—a perfect day in June with southern California sunshine and blue skies — and witnessed nearly 1,000,000 good American citizens lining the streets to welcome their president, would have both whistled and stopped."

BETSY ROSS AUXILIARY

A dinner at 12:30 o'clock preceded a business and social meeting of Betsy Ross Auxiliary No. 14, United Spanish War Veterans, and honored members having birthday anniversares in April, May and June, yesterday at the Legion Dugout. Covers were placed for approximately 30. During the business session Mrs. Mary Miller was elected a delegate and Mrs. Anna B. Jones alternate to the national convention to be held at Washington, D. C. Aug. 22-26. Mrs. Aletha Schultz, president, was in charge of a business session during which $10 was voted for welfare work. In a contest the award was won by Mrs. Dolly Antinoy.

Extinct species of penguin were nearly six feet tall.

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

RED SKELTON MAKES A fruitless call as a "Fuller Brush Man" in the Columbia zany comedy starting at the Palace Sunday. Red has vivacious Janet Blair as his co-star

Red Skelton Coming As Brush Salesman

Red Skelton with Janet Blair as co-star comes to Marion Sunday in the Columbia screen comedy "The Fuller Brush Man" scheduled for a four-day run at the Palace theater.

Principal featured players are Don Maguire, Hilary Brooke, Adele Jergens, Ross Ford and Trudy Marshall. The picture brings to the screen an institution familiar to U. S. housewives and one which has inspired as many gags as Ford's Model T.

The zany plot, ideal for the Skelton madcap style begins with Red's failure as a street cleaner (he crashes into the car of the sanitation commissioner) and his attempt at selling with the hand of Miss Blair at stakes. He bets Don Maguire his rival, both in the Fuller Brush line and also for the hand of Miss Blair, that he can actually sell brushes. The loser of the bet is to retire as suitor.

Red finally makes a sale to the wife of the sanitation commissioner. When the commissioner is found murdered Skelton becomes a suspect and only after a climactic and crazy chase sequence is the real murderer uncovered.

Showing Thursday, Friday and Saturday at regular prices is David O. Selznick's $6,000,000 production, "Duel in the Sun." Billed as one of the greater pictures to come out of Hollywood, the technicolor version of Niven Busch's novel has playing in the principal roles Jennifer Jones as a tempestuous half-breed named Pearl Chavez, Gregory Peck as Lewt McCanles, a charming but worthless man and Joseph Cotten as his brother Jesse McCanles, an idealistic gentleman.

Other important roles are played by Lionel Barrymore, Lillian Gish, Herbert Marshall, Walter Huston, Charles Bickford, Harry Carey, Otto Kruger and Sidney Blackmer.

Peck is the rugged roughriding sharpshooting Texan who is not above murdering for Pearl. He lives with his gentler brother for the girl's affections. Lionel Barrymore plays Senator McCanles, the mens power-mad father who will not tolerate the relentless push of the railroad builders across his Texas empire.

Ohio Film Recalls Days of Vaudeville

"Give My Regards to Broadway" now showing through Thursday at the Ohio, is a warm drama of vaudeville and the folks behind the footlights. Snappy dance routines features the nimble Dan Dailey ably abetted by Charles Winninger, Nancy Guild, Fay Bainter, and Barbara Lawrence set a fast pace. Happy song and dance music which forms the background for this tale of a family who refused to accept the death of the vaudeville they loved. Nancy Guild is the bait which almost lures Dan Dailey from his resolve to carry on and fulfill his father's ambitions.

Warner Bros. "Wallflower," a comedy of the younger set, moves into the Ohio for four days starting Friday. Robert Hutton, the bobby-soxer's delight and Joyce Reynolds of Janie' fame are the lovers while Janis Paige, the lady with the fancy figure, plays the menace to the path of true love. Edward Arnold plays the fond father who is a big executive a role practically tailor made for him. Rudolph Friml Jr. son of the famed composer, plays the part of an orchestra leader.

The co-starring of Robert Hutton and Joyce Reynolds in this feature marks the first showing of this happy combination here since their recent success in "Always Together."

Rebuffed at Newark, Cubs Open Series with Yankees Here Tonight

Dillmen Make Most of Blows To Win 5th Straight, 11 to 7

Back home from a disastrous road trip in which they lost eight of 10 games, the Marion Cubs open a 10-game stand here tonight with the Newark Yankees, who handed them an 11-ot-7 setback last night.

Ray Peet will probably take the hill for the Bruins, now 11 games behind the leading Muncie Reds in the Ohio-Indiana league circuit. Peet will be looking for his fifth victory. He has lost four.

Probable Marion pitchers in tomorrow's games, the first starting at 2 p. m. and the second at 7:15, are Jim Edgar (3-3) and newcomer Bill Adkins (1-0).

Cubs Outhit Yanks

The Cubs outhit Newark last night but the red hot Yankees made the most of their blows to defeat the Cubs and make a sweep of the two-game series.

It was Newark's fifth straight win and gave the Yanks a perfect record for a four-game home stand which ended last night.

The Cubs clouted two Newark pitchers for 13 hits while the Yanks jolted three Marion hurlers for 12 safeties.

The two clubs rattled out 10 extra base hits. Bolduc, Bekeza and Bobzean hit doubles for the Cubs and King laced out a triple.

Manager Bob Dill of the Newarkites smashed out two consecutive triples and then posted a double. Shortstop Joe Eshoo batted home four tallies on a double and a triple. Ogle, Newark second sacker, joined the parade with a two-bagger.

Pisarski Falls

Gene Pisarski, a southpaw, started for the Cubs but failed to last the first inning. He was replaced by Ray Burgermeister after giving up four runs.

Marion chased Ernie Lawrenac and tied up the game with a four-run blast in the third. Ed Bobowski hurled the remainder of the contest to get credit for the win.

Triples by Dill and Eshoo featured Newark's four-run rally in the fourth. Mitchell Gegax took over in the fifth and finished the game for Marion. Burgermeister suffered the defeat.

Prospect Legion Downs Quaker Oats, 28 to 2

Special to The Star

PROSPECT, June 19 — The Prospect American Legion softball team clubbed out 23 hits, took advantage of 16 errors, and made what is believed to be the first triple play on the Prospect diamond here last night in walloping the Quaker Oats nine of Marion, 28 to 2.

Bob Lane, Dan Kirby, John Lauer, and Jim Rider led the hitting attack on two Oats hurlers, each getting at least three safeties.

The triple play came in the third. With the bases loaded, Allen lined to Lauer, who stepped on first doubling Smith, then threw to Kirby on third, tripling Schroll, who had started home.

Earlier in the week, the Prospect nine downed W. and W. of Marion, 10-7.

Marion Moose meets Hamilton Coated Paper on the Prospect diamond tonight. Carey will meet Prospect here Wednesday night.

To Try Out As Cub Infielder

A first baseman from Monroe, Mich., is expected to report to the Marion Cubs today for a tryout. He is William Maiher, who last year played on two ball clubs in the Class D Illinois State league, earning the top fielding average for first basemen in that league. In 73 games with the Belleville and Mt. Vernon clubs in the loop, he handled 651 chances, making only five errors, for a .992 average. He was in on 45 double plays.

His batting average was a none-too-healthy .246, but he was a hard man to pitch to, and drew almost as many walks as he got base hits.

He has been out of baseball this year because he was in college, but his father, a doctor, called Marion Cub President W. Dexter Hazen yesterday saying he was bringing the boy down to Marion today for a tryout.

MUNCIE BOOSTS LEAD BY DOWNING GIANTS

By The Associated Press

Ohio-Indiana baseball league teams will open a new series tonight with the Muncie Reds still setting a hot pace for the loop leadership.

Muncie boosted its lead to two and one-half games by sweeping its series with runnerup Springfield at Muncie. The heavy hitting Reds beat the Giants 12-3 last night. They moved on to Springfield for a weekend series. The other clubs made a similar shift.

Larry Miller pitched Muncie to victory as catcher Bob Nieman and centerfield Harold Trainer knocked the ball out of the Muncie park for homers to pace the Reds' hitting.

Newark on its home grounds defeated Marion 11-7 in a heavy hitting game. It was Newark's fifth straight win. Six doubles and four triples figured in the barrage of hits turned loose by the teams.

At Zanesville, the Dodgers lost an 11-inning game to Lima with a former Dodger contributing to the home team's defeat. Chet Ashman, now a first baseman for Lima, doubled with two on in the ninth to tie up the game. Zanesville sold Ashman to Lima earlier in the season. Second baseman Ommir Rock iced the game for Lima in the eleventh with a double scoring two runners. The final score was 9-7 in favor of Lima. Zanesville took the lead in the second with a five run rally but pitcher Bill Bohne went in and shut the Dodgers out for the rest of the game.

At Richmond, Portsmouth rallied in the third inning with a four-run attack and went on to win 6-3 as pitcher Don Whitmore held the Braves to six hits. Second baseman Rip Major started the Portsmouth rally with a triple. Pitcher Tamaska of Richmond held Portsmouth to two hits in the six innings. Three double plays by Portsmouth, however, spoiled any chances of a Richmond rally.

PEN SETS ROAD GAMES

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, June 19 — The Ohio penitentiary softball team will play three "road" games in August, the first time in the prison's history that a team has played outside the walls, Warden Ralph W. Alvis announced today. The team will play a home-and-home series with the London prison farm team. Three games will be played at London and three will be played at the penitentiary.

MUNCRIEF PICKED TO HALT SLUMP

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 19 — Cleveland's Indians, teetering atop the American league with a one-game margin, try to stop the second place Philadelphia Athletics today with Bob Muncrief.

With their homecoming from a triumphant eastern tour now souring badly to the tune of five straight losses, the Indians had planned to use ace Bob Lemon. But in the early morning hours when last night's game ended 5 to 4 in favor of the Athletics, Manager Lou Boudreau changed his mind and decided to send in Muncrief.

Lemon had the bad fortune to lose the latest game in less than an inning's work.

It was in the seventh inning, after a third rainstorm had held up play, and Boudreau had called him in to protect a 4-3 advantage. He got rid of the first man, Catcher Buddy Rosar, by striking him out. Then he walked Pete Suder. Herman Franks, pinch hitting for Pitcher Chuck Harris, shot a single into center.

After fanning Eddie Joost, Lemon proceeded to lose the game. He walked Ray Coleman, Sam Chapman and Rudy York, and the tying and winning runs walked across the plate.

Boudreau's other pitchers — Gene Bearden, Don Black, Russ Christopher and Ed Klieman — combined with Lemon to allow only three hits but their walks added to 10.

Pronto Don Wins $10,000 Preview Trot

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 19—A week of Grand Circuit harness racing closes at Maywood park tonight with the $2,500 three-year-old pace booked as the feature event.

Last night's $10,000 Hambletonian Preview Trot was won by Pronto Don which swept both sections of the week's biggest event before 10,264, largest crowd of the season.

In the mile heat, the Don, driven by veteran Doc Parshall of Urbana, Ohio, stayed off a stretch bid by Mercy Abbey to win by a length and a half. At a mile and a sixteenth, Pronto Don finished a half length in front of runner-up Lady M.

16 Tee Off Today in Ohio Public Links Golf Tourney

TOLEDO, O., June 19—Ohio's annual public links golf championship race was whittled down to a "sweet 16" today, and by nightfall only four of yesterday's 64 starters will remain in the running.

The eight twosomes teed off in third round matches this morning over Bunningdale's rolling acres.

The chips were really down in today's matches. Defending champion Val Chiaverini, inspector at a Toledo spark plug concern, had as his third round foe tournament-wise Jim Caspio, Cleveland tavern operator. Caspio ousted highly-rated Bob Kay of Toledo from the tourney yesterday, along with Frank Carissimo of Youngstown, and some of the gallerytes had an idea the Clevelander was the man to halt Chiaverini's reign which has extended since 1943.

Chiaverini took a 5 and 4 verdict over Dayton's Bill Zimmerman, and won 4 and 3 over canny Bill Podolski of Columbus. His backers considered him a cinch to stay in there at least until he clashes with Lt. Jack Mann, an eight-year Army man and the tourney dark horse.

Mann, former professional in Fort Worth, Tex., wound up four under par yesterday as he administered a 4 and 3 spanking to Clarence Miller of Canton and then smothered Arnold Adams of Mansfield under an 8 and 7 avalanche.

At last night's session of the Ohio Public Links Golf association Akron was tentatively awarded the 1949 tournament, and it was agreed to change the type of play.

Since 1930, until this year the fixture had been over 72 holes of medal play. This year it was shifted to all match play. Next year it will consist of 36 holes of medal play, with the 16 low scorers going into a championship two-day medal play event.

The association also reelected its officers — President James A. Rhodes, mayor of Columbus, Vice President Joe Patton of Steubenville; Secretary Ray Pennell of Columbus, and Treasurer E. O. Gifford of Columbus.

SMITTY'S MAIDS DOWN DANVILLE GIRLS, 14-1

Smitty's Maids walked over Danville at the Crystal lake park Thursday for an easy win, 14-1. The Maids used 12 players, seven of whom hit safely. Rosenberger clouted a homer and Barrett, Hart and Carpenter each hit safely on two occasions to pace the winners.

The Maids will run up against a hurler of no mean ability Monday when they meet the strong National Electric Coil team of Columbus. Miss Evelyn Fehy, winner over the locals three out of four games and pitcher on the state championship J. & K. team in 1946, will fling for Columbus. A strong rivalry also exists between the Columbus outfit and the Maids in basketball competition. Gate receipts will be used to purchase new uniforms for the girls.

LOCKE LEADS FIELD BY NINE STROKES

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 19—Bobby Locke's magic wand—a rusty, hickory-shafted putter—has cast its spell again over the pro golfers.

The South African today entered the third round of the $15,000 Chicago Victory golf tournament with nine stroke edge on the field. Locke carved a 65, six under par, on the 6,587-yard Midlothian course, yesterday to post a halfway tally of 130. He also had a 65 on opening day, breaking the 10-year-old course record by a stroke.

The 12-under par 130 tally tied the record 36-hole low posted in PGA sponsored tournaments. Skip Alexander carded a 67-63—130—for the halfway lead in the Tucson, Ariz., open last winter.

Nine strokes behind Locke was Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., with 70-69—139. He was followed at 141 by Ernie Ball of Chicago and Alexander. Grouped at even par 142 were Jackson Bradley, Jim Ferrier, Dick Metz, Ed Furgol and Johnny Bulla.

BILLY HERMAN TO PILOT MINNEAPOLIS

By International News Service

A managerial change made news on the American Association front today as only one game was played last night.

Billy Herman, veteran major league second baseman and 1947 manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was appointed pilot of the Minneapolis Millers yesterday.

He replaced Frank Shellenback, who has been ordered by his physician to take a complete rest from baseball.

Herman inherited a fifth place ball club, 12½ games out of first and 3½ behind fourth place Columbus.

The Millers were rained out of a scheduled double header with Kansas City last night. Rain also spoiled twin bill plans of Milwaukee and St. Paul, who are battling for second place.

League leading Indianapolis and Toledo were not scheduled.

In the only game played, Louisville pushed over two runs in the ninth to edge Columbus, 6 to 5.

BOSTON BRAVES HAVE BLACKWELL'S NUM'BE

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 19—The Boston Braves certainly have Ewell Blackwell's number this season.

Just a year ago yesterday at Crosley Field in Cincinnati, the Reds lean righthander made baseball history by throwing a no-hitter against the Beantowners.

With 30,759 fans looking on here last night Blackwell failed in his third try to go the route against the Boston club this season as the Braves came from behind to trip the Reds, 5-4.

The loss, however, went to Kent Peterson, the young southpaw who allowed the Braves the winning marker shortly after he relieved Blackwell, taken out for a pinch-hitter, in the seventh inning.

Blackwell gave the Braves seven of their eight hits. He fanned eight and issued three bases on balls, one purposely.

The safety off Peterson, a single by Earl Torgeson, won the game. It came after Ed Stanky drew a base on balls, went to second on a wild pitch and to third on an infield out.

Clyde Shoun, a former Redleg, was the winning pitcher, notching his third victory. He was nicked for nine hits.

The Reds took a 2-0 lead in the third inning on singles by Blackwell and Johnny Wyrostek, Benny Zientara's well-placed bunt, Grady Hatton's long fly and a force out.

Boston got one in the fourth and three in the sixth.

A base on balls to Claude Corbitt, another single by Wyrostek and Hatton's triple off the center field fence accounted for two Cincinnati runs in the seventh.

Stan Musial's .400 Batting Ups St. Louis Cards Fortunes

By The Associated Press

Stan Musial is on the warpath again and the fortunes of the St. Louis Cardinals are rising in the National league pennant race.

The Donora, Pa., clouter has hit safely in 10 of his last 11 official trips to the plate to boost his league-leading batting mark to .405. He also is in the running for every other important individual offensive honor. The Red Bird star leads the loop in runs scored, hits, and triples.

Musial went 3 for 4 against the Giants yesterday as the Cards outslugged the Giants, 12-8 in New York. It was the Giants' fifth straight defeat.

The victory increased the Cardinals' margin over the fourth place Giants to two games, but the Birds remained a game and a half off the pace of the front-running Boston Braves.

Braves Nose Out Reds

Billy Southworth's Braves came from behind and nosed out the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, in a night game at Boston. The Braves broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning when Earl Torgeson singled home Ed Stanky from third.

The second-place Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the Phillies, 2-0 in a night game at Philadelphia to remain a half game behind the Braves and a game ahead of the Cardinals. Elmer Riddle limited the Phils to five safeties to gain his eighth victory of the season.

The Chicago Cubs scored four runs in the eighth inning to overcome a 4-2 deficit and went on to beat the Dodgers, 6-4, in a day game at Brooklyn.

All Night Games

All activity in the American league took place at night. The second-place Philadelphia Athletics nipped the first-place Cleveland Indians, 5-4, to pull to within a game of the Tribe. The St. Louis Browns edged the New York Yankees, 2-1, and the Chicago White Sox beat the Washington Senators, 5-2.

In a well-pitched game at St. Louis, Cliff Fannin held the Yankees to three hits. Tommy Henrich homered for the lone Yankee marker in the sixth. Frank Shea was the losing pitcher.

A scheduled night game between the Boston Red Sox and the Tigers in Detroit was postponed because of rain.

BOB NEIMAN STILL 0-IL BATTING KING

Heavy-hitting Bob Neiman of Muncie was still the class of the Ohio-Indiana league batters this week as Howe News Bureau dispatches credited him with a top .396 average that now includes high league totals of 68 hits, 116 total bases, 10 home run, and 45 runs batted in.

Portsmouth's George Staller remains a small clip behind with .375, followed by Bill Frushina and Carl Raucher of Lima with .357 and .344 respectively. Marion's Bill Bolduc posted a .341.

The league's top pitcher was Len Klaus of Springfield with a record of 7-2, although two had won more games. Larry Miller of Muncie has won eight and lost three, while Marion's Nick Alivojvodic had an 8-6 mark. The figures include games of June 14.

Only two Marion players now with the team got into the select .300 group—Bill Bolduc with a .341 and Alivojvodic with a .342. Bolduc's 19 doubles led the list.

The Muncie Reds retained their leadership in both batting and fielding. Zanesville and Marion trailed in batting, and Springfield and Lima in fielding.

The Cubs stood next to Richmond in the bottom in fielding.

GAS CO. TO HONOR VETERAN EMPLOYES

Four from Marion Among 463 in System.

William R. Anthony, Samuel R. Martin, Charles E. Sechrist, and Christian F. Weber, all of Marion, will be among the employes of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. who will be presented gold watches in recognition of their long service, at a banquet in the Smithsville Inn, Smithville, Tuesday night, June 22.

Four hundred and sixty-three Ohio Fuel employes, each of whom has worked for the company for 25 years or longer, will be presented with watches at banquets this month, it was stated by Mr. Sechrist, local manager.

At the Smithville banquet, the 37 active members of the Northeastern Quarter Century club will receive the gifts. Each watch is inscribed with the employe's name and his years of service. Each worker also will be given one of the new style Columbia Gas System service pins.

Major Norman Imrie of Columbus will be the guest speaker, and department heads will present the watches and service pins. Seventy-one retired employes of the area also are members of the club and will attend the banquet. Other Quarter Century club events, with presentations of watches and pins, are being held this month in Columbus, Toledo and Lancaster.
